QUALITY, COMMITMENT AND EFFICIENCY

SEVEN DECADES AND ON INTO THE FUTURE

In 1952 Yngve and his uncle Manfred Gerdin started a business for forging and bicycle repairs in Mjällom in Höga Kusten. After a few years they noticed that the local shoe industry needed better tools, and therefore started manufacturing clicker dies and other tools. The same attitude still applies to the business, seventy years later: If the customer has a need, Gerdins will take care of it. Commitment to the customer and high and consistent quality creates long-term customer relationships. Gerdins remains a family business, and has evolved from a small local mechanical workshop to a high-tech industrial business.

All of our manufacturing takes place locally in modern factories with stable processes, and this is how it will continue. We focus on Swedish quality, cost-effective solutions for our customers and consideration to the environment for a sustainable future.

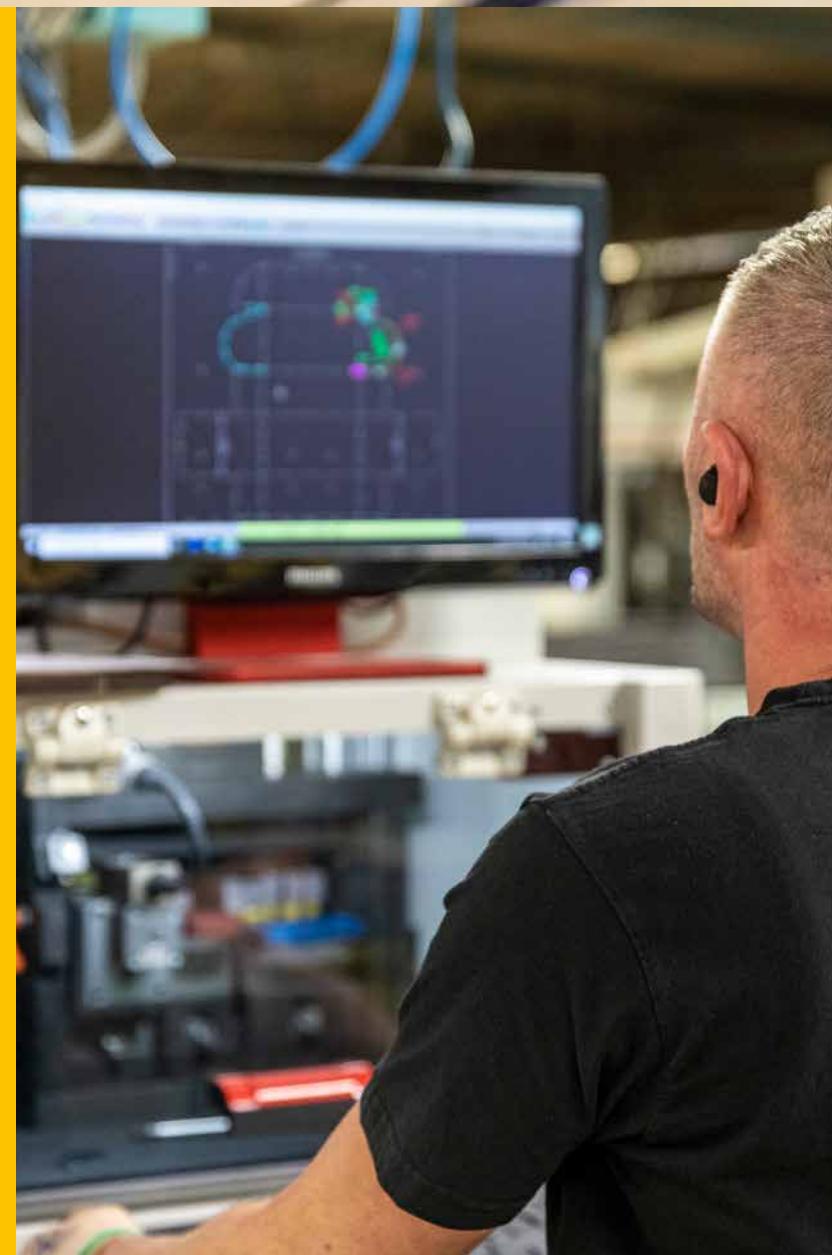

CUTTING DIES FOR ALL SHAPES

Gerdins is a comprehensive supplier that manufactures cutting dies for both industry and packaging. Our tools punch, emboss and shape difficult materials too. We use only plywood, cutting lines and rubber of the highest quality as we know that the choice of material is essential for good functionality.

Thanks to our extensive experience, we can resolve the customers challenges, regardless of what they are. With us, you will find the range from traditionally forged clicker dies as they were manufactured when Gerdins started, up to modern production with laser and automation. We also manufacture complete molding tools in aluminum or prototype materials.

Quality, functionality and overall economy are in focus for all of our tools.
